Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design	Reflecting pool	Don't like the tall structure
Davis Buckley
EwingCole		Too much for an outdoor memorial – maybe in a full museum
Howard+Revis	Simple, direct
Kelly/Maiello	Simple, direct

Additional comments: I like the idea of a reflecting pool to delineate space (make it ground level). I don't like video or other "tech" display for an outdoor memorial.

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design		Slavery was palliated and sanitized
Davis Buckley	The fact that the amount of people in slavery is included with their names	Too palliated. Slavery was not at all pleasant for the enslaved.
EwingCole		Too palliated
Howard+Revis		Too palliated
Kelly/Maiello	It bears more of a resemblance to the actual house.	Too palliated

Additional comments: None of the exhibits portray the actual evil, horror, or barbarity of slavery. The fact that "a founding father" and "the founding fathers" owned slaves is egregiously repulsive and makes all the accolades that these "fathers" receive beyond ludicrous. The fact that America was founded on the blood of Native Americans and the blood, sweat, and tears of Africans makes any bragging of freedom and democracy absolutely hollow.

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design	Totally contemporary interpretation of site	Chairs – reminiscent of memorial for Oklahoma City – need something more original
Davis Buckley	Bronze sculptures	Minimizing floor plan gives false information – not enough discussion of household
EwingCole		Sense of building is completely lost – no sense of family. Too busy – very difficult to manage people
Howard+Revis	Uses the footprint of the house as a base – beauty in sculpture	Could emphasize work of executive branch better
Kelly/Maiello	Uses the house as a platform for interpretation – discusses the work of the president as well as everyday life in the house	Almost too literal an interpretation of house

Additional comments: I think the Kelly/Maiello is hands down the best design including all of the ideas sought. I liked Amaze's but the house is a bit lost in the contemporary design.

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design	-	Too abstract. Does not convey that this was home for presidents and slaves
Davis Buckley	Life-size bronze statues	Lack of information directly related to Philadelphia, Adams, the house. Too focused on Washington as slaveholder at Mt. Vernon
EwingCole	The partially built walls to define the rooms. Clear explanation of how the displays will work.	The facade or the beams extending beyond the footprint
Howard+Revis	The bronzes. The fuller incorporation of Adams (his state dinner with Haitian leader)	The design is very open. It does not convey the idea of a home very well.
Kelly/Maiello	Excellent. It conveys all the design requirements. The feel of the original home is captured. Fits well with the historic district.	-

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design		Too much emphasis on the dramatic "look" of the design, no real engagement with significance of the place
Davis Buckley	Openness with sense of approachability	Easy to miss the history. Also... the significance of the executive office is missing. Adams too is absent.
EwingCole	The possibility of bringing in new understandings.	The space is too busy so themes get lost. Where's the presidency and where's Adams?
Howard+Revis	The simplicity and openness of space, which could be "saved."	The "supposed" events in the house are conjectural or inaccurate.
Kelly/Maiello	The only design that even attempts to put the issues and themes in context by suggesting the development of the republic and the presidency as integral to the theme of freedom and slavery. Also, the design gives some sense of the house – the place.	Needs a way to "guide" traffic.

Davis Buckley	I like the bronze sculptures outside.	Seems the two sculptures are the primary focus
EwingCole	Seems boring	Seems flat
Howard+Revis	Seems to be more interactive – good depth	Although they depict the 9 slaves, it seems they should show the magnitude of slavery better

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design		Clutter on the corner; ugly, confused, in a word, awful
Davis Buckley	Cleanest of the designs	Focus exclusively on the slavery present on site; bronzes don't belong on sidewalk
EwingCole		A maze; and an unattractive one at that
Howard+Revis	Clean...	but even suggested trees on East site block view down lawn from National Constitution Center
Kelly/Maiello	Concept, à la Franklin House, ok, but execution?	Why create a brick wall to block view and then have stairs to viewing platform?

Additional comments: 1. I think the concept is flawed. The tail is wagging the dog here. It's the President's House with slave quarters, not slave quarters with President's House. 2. Don't rush to select – none of these designs do the site justice.

Amaze Design	Contemporary design	Blocks too much of the Liberty Bell Center from Market Street
Davis Buckley	Elegant – simply, the population and slavery numbers are very powerful!	Perhaps too simple – not dramatic enough
EwingCole	Nothing	Way too complicated and intrusive on the Liberty Bell Center
Howard+Revis	Sculptures are powerful	If they're going to show the footprint, it should be accurate – i.e., extending onto sidewalk
Kelly/Maiello	That it extends onto the sidewalk and accurately reflects the footprint	Too similar to other exhibits – reminds me of the horrid "art sculpture" on the north side of the 600 block of Chestnut, i.e., woman behind a window

Additional comments: Thanks for seeking public comment. Displays are very well done.

How well does each model commemorate the lives of all the people who inhabited the President's House?

Team	Exceptionally well	Well	Adequately	Not well at all
Amaze Design				X
Davis Buckley			X
EwingCole		X
Howard+Revis	X
Kelly/Maiello				X

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design		I find that the whole thing is pretty boring.
Davis Buckley	People statues, floor plan on ground	Glass monoliths
EwingCole	Sound of stories	Too many pillar bits cut up the space
Howard+Revis	Floor plan on ground, statues. Think it will age well	Maybe more shade near white benches
Kelly/Maiello	Use of brick	Too white and "art deco" looking; looks like a theatre set

Additional comments: The Howard+Revis design and the Davis Buckley seem to me the most timeless, but for telling the story – the Howard+Revis design does a better job.

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design		Too modern a design for the setting/topic
Davis Buckley	Model, graphics, idea	The pillars are a nice idea, but the more literal interpretations in other proposals work better.
EwingCole	Works well with Visitor Center
Howard+Revis	Nice graphics and model	Too much a sculpture park
Kelly/Maiello	Substantive – best conveys the history

Additional comments: I liked the many interpretations and the thoughts behind them. I think people would learn the most and spend the most time in the Kelly/Maiello design.

Amaze Design	On the fence about this one. Like the depiction of 9 slaves – very well represented	Can't really tell that this was Washington's home where he kept slaves. Think it is somewhat lost.
Davis Buckley	I like it. Very balanced. Question: will it focus only on the two slaves? He did have nine... at least.
EwingCole		Do not like. Very cold, not feeling, does not encourage sentimental introspection
Howard+Revis	Like, but I do NOT believe that Washington struggled with the issue of slavery.

EwingCole
Howard+Revis
Kelly/Maiello	The "ghost house" aspect, the way it encompasses all the ideas and judges no one. It leaves you free to make your own decisions about the site and the people who lived there.

Additional comments: I honestly thought the Kelly/Maiello design was the only one to treat evenly with all the stories of the house and its people. Also, it's aesthetically the most interesting, with the ghost framework and the empty space in the middle – it makes its own compelling space without intruding on the Liberty Bell pavilion.

Additional comments: Whichever design you ultimately choose, I beg you to give John Adams the respect and prominence he deeply deserves. This great American genius, who was the equal in achievement, importance, and ability to Jefferson, Washington, and Franklin, has in recent years begun to receive the attention he merits. Also, by emphasizing his lifelong opposition to slavery and the fact that there were no slaves in the President's House during Adams' tenure, you will build a monument that unites rather than divides our people.

Kelly/Maiello	See below

Additional comments: First Choice—Kelly/Maiello—for:

- (1) the Vitality incorporated in the design: Involvement of the mind of the viewer/participant through use of the senses of sight and sound will create a fuller understanding of the historic activities that took place in the house and a lasting, imprinted memory.
- (2) the Balance between static, grand architecture of the design and the grant, vibrant learning opportunity.
- (3) the Architecture, alone, would be a splendid addition to the Center City.

Second Choice—Amaze Design—for:

Clean and Elegant architectural plan with potential for moving the public through adroitly. Subtle crowd control in a splendid design.

Incidentally: Found the new Constitution Center enthralling!

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design		The historical relevance and connection of the president – the slavery and truth is not evident.
Davis Buckley		Not feeling a connection to the "human" element of slavery as an institution
EwingCole		Lacks a humanistic connection of my descendents
Howard+Revis	The visual designs/sculptures and descriptions for old and young are powerful
Kelly/Maiello		Flat – not descriptive

Additional comments: "Powerful" best describes the Howard+Revis design. This design meets the core requirements for this project.

- * What written and audio supplements will accompany the exhibit?
 - * Who are the slaves depicted – What is their history, identity?

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design	Variety of design. Different uses of architecture	Graphics can become out-of-date.
Davis Buckley	Documentation of slave population very good!	Glass is vulnerable to vandalism.
EwingCole	Good use of images	Strict entrance/exit points can create confusion for visitors.
Howard+Revis	Open flow of grounds for visitors	Needs more interpretive panels
Kelly/Maiello	Outline of house is well done.	Can create logjam of visitors

What features do you particularly like or dislike about each model?

Team	Like	Dislike
Amaze Design	Nothing	Would like to see more emphasis on other aspects of President's administration. Too much focus on just slavery. I'm sure the house has more of a storied history than just the fact that slaves lived here.
Davis Buckley	Statues are nice.
EwingCole	Nothing
Howard+Revis	Artistically pleasing. Not cluttered
Kelly/Maiello	Emphasis on John Adams. Matches bell center and visitor center architecture

Davis Buckley	Visually stimulating, meshes well with existing Liberty Bell Pavilion	Too much like the Boston Holocaust Memorial Monument
EwingCole		Detracts from the Liberty Bell Center. Circles are confusing
Howard+Revis		Gloomy – more of a holocaust type monument
Kelly/Maiello	I liked the depiction of the house and people very much.

Additional comments: Fugitive Slave Act should have been explained in detail for those not acquainted with the said documents. Too much emphasis was/is depicted on the President (G. Washington) and not enough on Black Africans whom I thought this monument should rightly REPRESENT. My ancestors are not significantly represented. Said mold should be SCRAPPED and start afresh.
