

In August 2004, Cara Lindsey joined the Office of the Inspector General, where she became the Chief Financial Investigator. Prior to joining the office, Cara was a member of the audit team for the City's Controller's Office for more than 14 years, performing financial, performance, and compliance audits of municipal departments, federal programs, and the School District of Philadelphia. She is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Association of Inspector Generals, and the Association of Government Accountants. Cara received her B.B.A. from Temple University and is a Certified Public Accountant licensed in the State of Pennsylvania. Cara may be reached at (215) 685-6058 or cara.lindsey@phila.gov.