

COVID-19 Isolation and Quarantine Program Request for Proposals (RFP)

Updated July 29, 2020

About the Philadelphia Department of Public Health

The mission of the Philadelphia Department of Public Health (PDPH) is to protect and promote the health of all Philadelphians and to provide a safety net for the most vulnerable. PDPH is the City of Philadelphia's lead public health agency responding to the coronavirus disease pandemic.

About COVID-19

The next phase of epidemic control to suppress COVID-19 requires three actions: containment, social distancing, and the protection of vulnerable populations. Isolation and quarantine (I&Q) are measures to help protect the public by preventing exposure to people who have or may have a contagious disease.

Isolation separates sick people from people who are not sick. Quarantine separates and restricts the movement of people who were exposed to a contagious disease, including contacts of a confirmed case, to prevent them from passing the infection to others if they become sick. One of the challenges of those exposed and/or infected with COVID-19 is being able to effectively isolate in their current living situations and making sure individuals comply with isolation regimens. Whether living with family, group settings, high-risk individuals, or alone, there are obstacles within each circumstance that impact one's ability to isolate.

To ensure the success of the containment initiative, individuals in isolation or quarantine must have proper support measures in place.

Purpose of this Request for Proposal (RFP)

The purpose of this RFP is to solicit proposals from qualified organizations to help provide the support and/or services needed to ensure successful I&Q for people with or exposed to COVID-19.

Ensuring that the needs of exposed and/or sick individuals can be met is essential to ensuring that they will remain in I&Q safely for up to 14 days. Some individuals may require assistance connecting with services or paying for those services. For example, while under isolation orders, an individual may need access to things such as meals, medications, and other provisions for themselves or their families. These individuals may need other types of assistance, such as relating to their employer about sick leave, or the provision of resources to protect them from eviction. If an employer cannot cover wages for sick leave, individuals may need financial assistance to replace lost wages while unable to work, or perhaps more specifically, financial support to cover their food, cost of housing and utilities. Additionally, there may be barriers for some to isolate, such as sharing a household with a high-risk family member or residing in a group setting, making it necessary for them to be able to isolate elsewhere. In these cases, individuals may qualify for housing at a separate facility. Finally, accessible transportation may be needed for those who must travel to a critical medical appointment who do not have access to a vehicle or ability to take public transit.

Some services, like connection with mental and behavioral health resources, will be offered to everyone in I&Q. Other services will be made available based on the specific needs of the individual and/or their family. PDPH Contact Tracers will perform an initial, brief needs assessment over the phone to determine an individual's needs. If an individual's needs exceed the general support offered, they will be referred for a more in depth needs assessment regarding additional services.

General Overview of Services PDPH is Seeking:

PDPH seeks to identify organizations capable of providing one or more services that will enable individuals designated by the Department of Public Health as needing isolation or quarantine for COVID-19 to successfully complete that isolation or quarantine. Individuals may be asked to isolate or quarantine in a COVID temporary housing facility or in their own home. Proposals may address service provision for either or both of these options.

ABOUT THE COVID-19 ISOLATION AND QUARANTINE PROGRAM

Background

Isolation for Those Infected with COVID-19

Containment actions are put into place to prevent community spread of COVID-19. People with the infection will be asked and provided with instructions to self-isolate for at least 10 days after the onset of symptoms to prevent the spread of the virus to others. [Note that this time period differs from the 14 days of quarantine for those exposed]. The City, working with other providers, will offer support as needed (for example, meals) for those who isolate at home and identify safe isolation accommodations for those who cannot safely isolate at home.

Quarantine for Those Exposed to COVID-19

Medium- and high-risk contacts (those who have spent more than 10 minutes in proximity to the case during the case's infectious period) will be asked to quarantine at home and monitored daily for 14 days after the last known exposure; low-risk contacts (those who spent fewer than 10 minutes near the case) will be advised to monitor their symptoms without quarantine. All people in quarantine will be contacted daily by PDPH's Contact Tracing Team to ensure that they are following instructions to avoid contact with others, to determine if they have developed any symptoms, and to help them receive testing or medical care.

Special Populations

There are several challenges associated with I&Q measures for people who are experiencing homelessness, addiction, mental health conditions, intellectual disabilities or other situations that may increase their needs to maintain I&Q safely.

Isolation and Quarantine Program Required Services

PDPH is partnering with Urban Affairs Coalition (UAC), a nonprofit organization, to seek proposals from qualified organizations to assist in supporting the various needs of individuals who have been exposed and/or infected with COVID-19. The goal for required services is to meet the needs of cases, which will eliminate the burden of isolation orders, thus promoting compliance. Listed are the minimum services and tasks that PDPH is requiring. Applicants may propose additional or revised tasks and activities but should explain why each is necessary and aligns with the Isolation and Quarantine Program's overall goals. These services include:

1. Service coordination
2. Delivery of essential provisions or services
3. Negotiations and advocacy
4. Facilitation of essential payments
5. Dependent care assistance
6. Access to healthcare and telehealth services
7. Transportation

Deliverable 1: Service Coordination

Assessing needs

Individuals whose needs surpass the services and support which can be provided by PDPH's Contact Tracers will be referred to a Service Coordinator.

Following the full assessment and intake process, the Service Coordinators will assign an individual to a service(s) with the appropriate service provider agency(ies). This work may be done in partnership, collaboration, or connection with additional City services and/or other Applicants; specifically:

- Mental Health Services – referral to work with Philadelphia Department of Behavioral Health and Intellectual disability Services
- Substance Use/Addiction services (see Deliverable 6)
- Healthcare Assistance/Telehealth Services (see Deliverable 6)
- Health Insurance Assistance and/or Navigation (see Deliverable 6)
- Medicare/Medicaid Assistance (see Deliverable 6)
- Legal services for negotiations or advocacy (see Deliverable 3)
 - o Employer negotiations
 - o Landlord negotiations
 - o Utility negotiations
 - o Self-employed/Small business advocacy for recovering lost wages
 - o Other legal assistance
- Dependent care coordination (see Deliverable 5)
- Transportation (see Deliverable 7)

Following the intake and connection process, Service Coordinators will be available to their assigned individuals throughout the I&Q period to troubleshoot services and assess ongoing or new needs.

Applicants should ensure that service coordination services can be provided, connections to services can be made, and follow up will be completed. Service Coordinators will be responsible for closing out the services at the end of the I&Q period, and providing individuals with referrals to partner organizations to continue services beyond the I&Q period if necessary. Service Coordinators will include a private, secure computerized intake process that will keep records of the needs assessment, intake process, and other information collected during the I&Q period. This information must be able to be securely shared with PDPH staff.

Assuring Services for Non-English Speakers

The contractor should provide reasonable steps to provide access to services for individuals with limited English proficiency by incorporating oral language services on a weekly or more frequent basis and may include, but are not limited to:

- Provide on-site or telephonic translation of written documents (including forms, medications, public information materials, correspondence, web pages, etc.)
- Interpreters may interpret over the phone or telephonic interpreting or through video (remotely)
- Facilitate communication between clients with Limited English Proficiency (LEP) and the Deaf and hard of hearing and their physicians, nurses, lab technicians and other health care providers

Deliverable 2: Delivery of Essential Provisions and Services

Provisions and Social Support

In order to safely isolate or quarantine for the required time, individuals must be able to meet their basic needs. [Note: If a Service Coordinator determines an individual or family is not able to meet one or more basic needs as determined in the initial needs assessment and intake process, the individual will be connected to services that can fulfill their needs]. Individuals may be in I&Q in a home or an alternate setting. These services may need to be delivered and/or paid for depending on the individual's situation.

Qualified candidates will provide supplies and necessities for patient to be able to continue daily life without disrupting isolation or quarantine efforts. Supplies must span the duration of the isolation or quarantine period. This list includes but is not limited to:

- Food or meals
- Medications
- If necessary for successful isolation/quarantine, hygiene items, other provisions, laundry, garbage removal services, or culturally appropriate items to serve diverse populations

- Access to technology and forms of entertainment to encourage compliance
- Logistical support and courier/delivery services to support individuals in I&Q. Examples of this service includes but is not limited to:

Qualified candidates will be able to serve as both an advisor and advocate in fields likely impacted by COVID-19, including employment, public benefits, housing, and debt and consumer rights. They should also possess an understanding of state and federal legislation, specifically The CARES Act. Applicant should assure that they are able to serve non-English speakers.

Examples of some of the expected negotiations:

- Employer negotiations

- Debt and consumer rights

Deliverable 4: Facilitation of Essential Payments

Low-income individuals and families may face significant financial challenges that prevent them from protecting themselves and others from COVID-19. For individuals impacted by COVID19 paying rent or mortgage payments can lead to housing insecurity. Low-income individuals living 150% below the poverty line have great levels of hardship regarding their housing stemming from a lack of resources, financial burden or loss of income. Qualified applicants will aide in financial payments which may include, but are not limited to:

- Facilitate rent or mortgage payments to landlords, bank institutions or self-employed entrepreneurs.
- Provide a letter to employers for job protection while individual is out of work due to COVID19.
- Provide financial counseling and budget planning
- Link individuals to cost saving programs (heating costs and utilities, reduced prescription drug programs, food & hunger prevention, child care, property taxes)

The Applicant will have to report these requests to PDPH subject to audit and oversight before approving payments.

Deliverable 5: Dependent Care Assistance

Qualified candidates should provide, or subcontract with an agency that could provide, dependent care to cover the responsibilities of persons in I&Q who are unable to care for their dependents.

Deliverable 6: Access to Healthcare and Telehealth Services

Applicants should submit proposals for connecting persons in I&Q with access to technology for the purpose of giving access to telehealth services.

Applicants should submit proposals for connecting individuals to care, including telehealth appointments. Strategies should include assistance with obtaining new patient appointments for individuals without an established healthcare provider, plans to successfully expedite appointments when necessary, and 24/7 phone access for emergencies. - Navigation of health care process
- Access to FQHCs
- Access to Behavioral Health
- Supportive care for COVID-19 symptoms
- Connection to COVID-19 testing services
- Connection to other health services, including routine medical care, emergency care, and testing for HIV, etc.
- Support for individuals in active addiction and recovery

Deliverable 7: Transportation

Applicants should submit proposals for provision of safe, low-occupancy transportation to and from homes, hospital and healthcare settings, and alternate housing options for individuals who do not have their own forms of transportation. Transportation needs may also include transport to critical medical appointments or services that PDPH deems necessary during an individual's time in isolation or quarantine.
