PHILADELPHIA PARKS & RECREATION'S FOOD PROGRAM

For more than 50 years, Parks & Rec has delivered nutritious summer meals to Philadelphia youth ages 18 and under. USDA-approved meals are made available for free at recreation centers, day camps, community groups, and at neighborhood PlayStreets. Meals can include a sandwich, fruit, vegetable, and milk or juice. Recreation centers and community groups can request breakfast and lunch, lunch and a snack, or breakfast and a snack, while PlayStreets receive lunch and a snack.

GET INVOLVED:

Camps and community groups:

Camps, faith-based organizations, and community groups can apply to receive free meals for youth in their summer programs. All community-based locations will be inspected by Food Program staff before meal service can begin.

Call (215) 685-2719 or (215) 685-2720 to apply.

PlayStreets:

Residents can apply to become a PlayStreet, and close their block to vehicular traffic, each weekday during the summer to serve free meals to kids on the block.

PLAYSTREETS REQUIREMENTS:

- Must be on small, one-way streets
- No businesses or municipal services located on the street
- Fewer than 25% of block residents object

PlayStreets supervisors can expect:

- A PlayStreets T-shirt for the supervisor.
- An activities kit, containing sidewalk chalk, jump ropes and playground balls.
- A modest stipend.
- A cooler is available upon request.

Enhanced PlayStreets

This summer, select PlayStreets will work closely with its partners to host activities and receive extra summer play supplies such as: Art Kits, Sports Kits and Cooling Kits. Enhanced PlayStreets activities include DJs, play landscapes, performances, and educational experiences.

Summer 2021 meal service will begin Monday, June 14 and end Friday, August 27.

Please note, all PlayStreets will be inspected by Food Program staff.
