

RECOGNITION OF THE SERVICE OF HERBERT LEVY TO THE PHILADELPHIA HISTORICAL COMMISSION

Herbert Levy passed away on November 26 at the age of 96. Mr. Levy served in various capacities on the Historical Commission and Architectural Committee from September 1975 to January 2008. For many years, Mr. Levy was the chair of the Architectural Committee and a member of the Historical Commission. He later served on the Architectural Committee. His 33 years with the Historical Commission may be the longest tenure of any appointed member in the Commission's history. In addition to his service to the Historical Commission, he worked as an architect and volunteered for numerous architectural and preservation organizations and agencies. The Historical Commission and the City of Philadelphia wholeheartedly thank Mr. Levy for his generous service and offer their deepest condolences to Mr. Levy's family and friends.
