I must say I am opposed to such a rate increase. Although I am a mother of 4 adult children living on my own, I in no way live beyond my means and I work for the city of Philadelphia, I am still finding it hard to make ends meet without having to do overtime at least 3 days a week. That is a complete disgrace! It's bad enough that a single person is finding it hard to survive these days, I really feel for those with children still at home.
