FAQ:

What permits or licenses are required for an outdoor special event on private property?

Background:

Uses and structures associated with special events are addressed in both local and State codes and are often subject to special provisions.

This FAQ serves to provide clarification around permitting and licensing requirements for outdoor special events conducted on private property that are enforced by the Department of Licenses and Inspections (L&I). Please refer to www.phila.gov/li for a complete listing of L&I permits, licenses, and associated requirements.

Additional resources for other types of events are available through the City's website:

- Events within a City park or recreation center: Events in City Park, Field, or Rec Center
- Events within the public right-of-way or on City property (other than City park): Get a Special Event Permit
- Events within or on a structure: Get a Temporary Occupancy Permit for a Special Event

You may also refer to L&I's Pop-up Beer Garden FAQ for specific information on temporary outdoor eating/drinking establishments and Code Bulletin A-1501 for complete information on temporary uses and structures.

Answer:

Multiple permits and licenses are required for your event as outlined in this FAQ.

The Department of Licenses and Inspections review times vary with license or permit type and range from 5 to 20 business days, with specific review times listed on each service page. It is strongly recommended that event organizers initiate the application process at least 30 days in advance of the planned start date. If a building permit is required, it is recommended that organizers allow additional time to make necessary adjustments raised during the review.

Zoning Permits

A Zoning Permit is required for all uses and structures on a lot.

The Philadelphia Zoning Code does not provide exemptions for temporary uses or structures; however, the Department may grant approval through the issuance of a temporary tent or building permit. Such approvals are subject to the following conditions:

- The use is limited to 15 days in a calendar year. If multiple events are conducted throughout the year, the cumulative length may not exceed 15 days. The Department reserves the right to rescind approval of the temporary use if the use is found to present a negative impact on the community or is found to be a threat to public health or safety.
- The approval of the structure is limited to 15 days in a calendar year. If multiple events involving the erection of structures are conducted throughout the year, no single structure may be installed for more than 15 days. If it is determined that there is a cumulative impact on the surrounding community, a separate zoning permit may be required.
- In considering any approval of temporary use and structures without a zoning permit, the Department is authorized to request any additional information necessary to evaluate the proposal.

ADDITIONAL FAQs

• Are gender-neutral bathrooms required?

All single-user toilet facilities, including accessible, family or assisted use toilet rooms, must be designated for use by any person.

• Do accessibility requirements apply?

Even if a permit is not required based on the conditions, the owner is responsible to comply with accessibility and other requirements of The Philadelphia Code. These requirements include accessible toilet facilities and service points.

Is the occupant load restricted?

Only the occupant load of structures occupied by the public is regulated; however, the Department may require a minimum number of points of egress if the lot is enclosed.

Are there any operational restrictions?

All operations must comply with the Philadelphia Fire and Property Maintenance Code. Some common issues:

- Open fire pits are prohibited. All appliances must comply with Section 307 of the Philadelphia Fire Code.
- Trash storage must comply with Section 308 of the Philadelphia Property Maintenance Code. Trash collection must comply with the regulations of the Philadelphia Streets Department.

Additional restrictions may be imposed by other government departments or agencies.
